Welcome to Vancouver

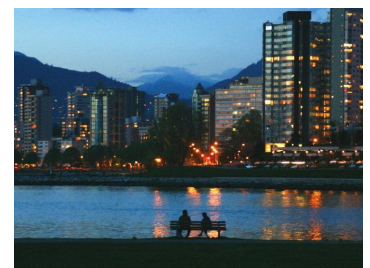

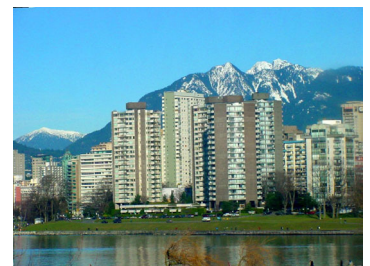

Vancouver is a vibrant city of great natural beauty. Nestled between the verdant Northshore mountains and the fertile Fraser River delta, our city has been compared to the port cities of Rio de Janeiro and San Francisco. Blessed with a temperate climate, vast parks, miles of public beachfront and only a half hour drive to natural wilderness, Vancouver attracts enough visitors each year to make tourism British Columbia's second most important industry.

Not surprisingly, as more people visit Vancouver, many are deciding to stay. Ethnically diverse and connected to both the Pacific Rim and the Western United States, Vancouver is the fastest growing city in Canada. The metropolitan population is now 1.9 million; within a 5-hour drive radius the population is 5 million.

From excellent restaurants, to unique shopping, and, of course, the best in live entertainment, Vancouver offers residents and guests a wealth of options.

We hope the following information will serve as a helpful introduction to our city.
