

Existing Transit Service

Mount Pleasant

City of Vancouver
Community planning program

Mount Pleasant is served by a number of bus routes. Transit service in Mount Pleasant is routed along arterial streets to major destinations such as the downtown core and UBC. There are also express transit services which run along Broadway and Great Northern Way.

The daily boarding figures shown below are for the full route, with data gathered from December 2003 to April 2004. Since the implementation of the U-Pass system at UBC, ridership numbers have grown significantly.

The #99 B-line provides limited stop transit service in Mount Pleasant between UBC and Broadway SkyTrain Station. This service provides limited stop express bus service in Mount Pleasant along Broadway with stops at Clark, Main and Cambie streets.

The #84 provides local stop service in Mount Pleasant and limited stop service west of Burrard. It runs along Great Northern Way, 2nd, and 4th from VCC-Clark station to UBC.

Late Night Service

In 2004 TransLink expanded NightBus service to provide people with a safe and reliable way to get home late at night from downtown Vancouver. In Mount Pleasant NightBus service runs along Broadway, Fraser, Kingsway, and Cambie.

Changes in Transit Service

Transit service on Main Street has been enhanced with bus bulges and more consistent stop spacing. Higher capacity articulated trolleybuses were introduced on Main Street in early 2008.

The province has announced that an extension of the Millennium Line to UBC (the UBC Line) will be built before 2020.
