Subject: Upcoming IB: Permit Parking Engagement

Dear Mayor and Council,

As per the briefing and memo you received on Monday, the first phase of public engagement to develop a city-wide residential permit-parking system with carbon surcharges will begin on January 27, 2021. A city-wide survey will be available for four weeks to gather feedback on how residential parking functions within Vancouver today. This input, in combination with the City's existing parking programs, will shape more detailed directions for a city-wide program. We will be promoting the survey via an information bulletin on Wednesday, combined with a promotional campaign on the City's social channels and in multi-lingual community newspapers.

Best,
Paul
