Subject: Upcoming IB: City calls on youth to help plan their future

---

Greetings Mayor and Council,

The Vancouver Plan has launched online material specifically targeted at youth to engage them in the process of developing a long-term strategic plan for the city – which they will inherit. There are a number of activities and resources available to help our future leaders learn more about their city. An information bulletin will be sent to media today featuring this content, in addition to early input the City has heard about community COVID-19 experiences and ideas for recovery.

Best,
Sadhu
