Purpose of this memo

This memo highlights the monthly Labour Force Survey (LFS) data published by Statistics Canada released on October 9th, 2020 for the reference period of September 14th to September 18th. The LFS provides estimates for the unemployment rate and employment totals by industry and occupation on a monthly basis. The information presented in this memo provides a snapshot of the impact COVID-19 has had on Vancouver's labour force and economy in the period of time since the Pandemic began. Staff in Planning, Urban Design and Sustainability will provide an updated monthly memo as new data is released. This information is meant to be viewed in conjunction with other socio-economic and community statistics to form a cohesive picture of the City's current state and assist with recovery and resilience planning. This information will be posted to the City website and shared with the business community.

Important notes about the data

The statistics presented in this memo are for the Metro Vancouver region as the Census Metropolitan Area (CMA) is the smallest geography level available for LFS data tables published by Statistics Canada. LFS data for the city of Vancouver proper is not available. Throughout this memo, the term “Vancouver” refers to the Vancouver CMA. The LFS data used to create the statistics presented in this report are not seasonally adjusted<sup>1</sup>.

Changes in employment totals and unemployment rate

Employment in Vancouver increased from 1,327,800 in August to 1,356,000 in September for a gain of 28,200 (2.1%) jobs. Since August, the unemployment rate decreased by -3.8 percentage points to 8.9% in Metro Vancouver. Since February, the region has seen a loss of -105,400 (-7.2%) employed workers in the region. This is a significant improvement in job losses, which peaked in April where a total loss of 251,200 (-17.2%) employed workers was recorded since February. Nationally, the unemployment rate decreased by 1.2 percentage points between August and September and is now 9.0%.

The overall increase in employed workers from May to September reflects the start of the gradual easing of public health restrictions and other measures, including allowing some non-essential businesses to re-open. A number of major orders related to the COVID-19 pandemic issued by various levels of government were active during this reference week (September 14th to September 18th). Please see Figure 7 for a full list of announcements and orders made since the previous reference period. Appendix A shows all prior announcements and orders starting on March 12th. The next labour force survey release will be on November 6th (for the reference week of October 11<sup>h</sup> to October 17th).

City of Vancouver business support webpage

On Friday, April 3rd, City staff established the COVID-19 Business Communications and Support Office (BCSO) to assist local businesses at this critical time. The office is a single point of contact for Vancouver's local business owners to get information from the City of Vancouver regarding business support programs, to learn what City-run business services are currently available, and to make suggestions to the City concerning business and the economy. The webpage is available here: <https://vancouver.ca/home-property-development/covid-19-coronavirus-support-for-local-businesses.aspx>.
