Subject: Weather and Roads

Greetings Mayor and Council-

Here's what we're doing today (Street Operations 7am - 7pm)

- Fourteen salters, salting main routes
- Six salters salting hot spots, and responding to 311 requests
- One Kubota salting/brining priority bike routes
- Two Jitney salting/brining shared bike routes/priority hills
- Four Brine units on main routes, shared bike lanes

Here's what we're expecting:

Dry through most of Thursday night with clouds increasing this afternoon. Light snow begins late Thursday night, after 2-3 am. Light snow continues Friday morning and even if we do mix with or go to rain Friday in the late morning/midday hours, it looks like precipitation will go right back over to snow Friday afternoon as precipitation increases again. Looks like a pretty significant snow event with continued snow Friday night and Saturday.

Will keep you posted.

Sadhu
