Subject: Snow!

Good Evening Mayor and Council

The weather forecast has been changing constantly throughout the day, with the latest stating that we will begin to see snow flurries late tonight, and continue through Wednesday morning and into the afternoon. At the moment, snow accumulations are predicted to be anywhere from 1 to 4 cm. Sanitation staff have been on-shift since 7pm tonight with salters running until 7am, when Streets will take at 7am.

We will have all of our available salters in operation tomorrow. Based on the prediction for snow, we are also activating the Engineering DOC. We will have all of our resources deployed to proactively deal with the snow.

I'll keep you updated. Please let me know if you see anything of concern.

Thanks

Sadhu
