Subject: Heat response - update

Good afternoon Mayor and Council,

I am writing to follow up on my note yesterday regarding the declaration of a heat warning for Vancouver and activation of our heat response plan. Consistent with that plan, our cooling centres across the city were open yesterday and again today. The usage of those facilities has been very limited. Our staff have been distributing water and Cool Kits in City housing buildings and heat awareness information is being distributed by the City and community partners to at-risk populations.

Based on the latest indication from Environment and Climate Change Canada, we anticipate the heat warning will be rescinded this evening.

Please let me know if you have any questions at this time.

Thanks,
Paul
