Share your priorities for investment in Vancouver's infrastructure and amenities

Provide input on the 2027-2030 Capital Plan until June 7

The City of Vancouver is inviting residents and businesses to share their priorities for future investments in infrastructure and amenities through the 2027–2030 Capital Plan.

The City's Capital Plan is a four-year investment plan that outlines the priorities for maintaining, renewing and improving infrastructure and amenities people rely on every day. This includes parks, roads and sidewalks, water and sewer systems, community centres, libraries, public safety facilities and other civic infrastructure.

Vancouver City Council provided direction to inform development of the draft 2027–2030 Capital Plan. This includes significant increased investments of $104 million in roads and sidewalks and $400 million for community recreation facilities across the city.

These investments will help Vancouver run smoothly and support quality of life across the city — including how people move around, access services, connect with community, enjoy public spaces and receive essential services.

The 2027–2030 Capital Plan will focus on renewing aging infrastructure, maintaining essential services, modernizing community-serving assets, and advancing planning and design work for projects anticipated for delivery in future capital plans.

Get involved

Give your feedback as the City creates a plan that will keep Vancouver vibrant and resilient for years to come. From now until June 7, 2026, share your priorities for capital investments:

- Visit shapeyourcity.ca/capital-plan to learn more and complete the survey
- Attend an in-person pop-up to ask questions and provide feedback
- Sign up to speak when Council reviews the final Capital Plan on July 28
- Share these opportunities with your networks

Feedback will be summarized in a public report and presented to Council before final approval of the Capital Plan in July 2027.
