Councillor Sarah Kirby-Yung appointed as Vancouver's Deputy Mayor

VANCOUVER, BC – Mayor Ken Sim released the following statement on appointing Councillor Sarah Kirby-Yung as Deputy Mayor:

“I am pleased to announce that I am appointing Councillor Sarah Kirby-Yung as Vancouver’s permanent Deputy Mayor for the remainder of the term.

“This appointment reflects our ongoing effort to play to the strengths of our team and ensure we’re best positioned to deliver for Vancouverites. Councillor Kirby-Yung is a great fit for this role. She has served on City Council since 2018 and has spent her career advocating for residents and improving the quality of life in our city. She’s a proven leader who is collaborative, action-oriented, and focused on results.

“From advancing housing and permitting reforms to championing initiatives that strengthen our economy and enhance our public spaces, Councillor Kirby-Yung has consistently worked to deliver for Vancouverites.

“I’m confident she’ll bring that same passion and commitment to her new role as Deputy Mayor as we continue building a safer, more affordable, and more connected city.”
