Online Application System: VanApply

VanApply is the City's current online grants management system using the SurveyMonkey Apply platform. The pilot system, which Cultural Services had been using since 2014 has now been phased out. Many features remain the same, but there are some additional steps required for all applicants to get set up in the new system.

Before getting started in VanApply

- Please note that VanApply does not contain past applications from the pilot system
- Avoid creating duplicate profiles as this will delay processing applications
 - Check if your organization already has a current profile. If you are a new user for an existing organization or unsure, please contact your organization's VanApply administrator or send an email to cultural.services@vancouver.ca
- New organizational profiles may take up to one business day to be registered in the system
- Please allow up to 30 minutes to get set up in VanApply

Background and Context

Culture|Shift: Blanketing the City in Arts and Culture. Culture Plan 2019 - 2029

Culture|Shift calls for us to be deeply mindful of how arts and culture is conducted upon the unceded territories of the xʷməθkʷəy̓əm (Musqueam), Skwxwú7mesh (Squamish) and səliiwətaʔt (Tsleil-Waututh) Nations. The plan aims to address current and emerging challenges and opportunities, reflect the culture and history of the city, and connect with other City policies and strategies.

Culture|Shift key directions are:

- Arts and Culture at the Centre of City Building
- Reconciliation & Decolonization
- Cultural Equity & Accessibility
- Making Space for Arts and Culture
- Collaboration & Capacity

Read the full culture plan at: <https://vancouver.ca/files/cov/vancouver-culture-shift.pdf>

Grants & Awards Guiding Principles

We acknowledge that grants and awards funding programs have historically been informed by a limited world view of arts and culture. This has enabled many organizations to establish and thrive, while simultaneously creating patterns of historic exclusion for many artists and organizations. Culture/Shift calls for us to address historical inequities, create new frameworks, and set directions for more equitable distribution of support so that all can participate in the cultures and creative stories of Vancouver.

Our funding through Grants and Awards aims to celebrate, elevate, and support the range of creative people, projects and organizations who contribute to art and culture in Vancouver.

These investments will:

- Celebrate and reflect the diversity of the unique creative people who live here.
- Uphold, recognize, and support Musqueam, Squamish, Tsleil-Waututh and Urban Indigenous artists and cultural practitioners, grounded in inherent and constitutionally protected Indigenous Rights.
- Elevate racialized artists and cultural workers and support work to dismantle racism in the arts and culture sector.
- Provide accessible opportunities for diverse public participation in arts and cultural activities.
- Build reciprocal and meaningful relations.
- Be embedded in, informed and led by community.
- Centre the artists and people whose stories are being told.
- Fairly compensate artists and creative people involved.
- Draw from the depth of local knowledge.
- Build leadership, knowledge and resources for artists and cultural leaders across the sector.

About the Communities and Artists Shifting Culture (CASC) Grant

Program Description

CASC grants provide opportunities for artists¹, cultural workers, and communities of Vancouver and the xʷməθkʷəy̓əm (Musqueam), Sḵwxwú7mesh (Squamish) and səliłwətał (Tsleil-Waututh) Nations to contribute to and participate in the arts and culture sector.

¹ *This grant program defines “artist” as someone that has an active artistic practice, is recognized by their peers, has specialized training in their practice (not necessarily in academic settings), seeks compensation for their work, and has a history of public presentation or production.

Program Goals

This program aims to leverage the collective community efforts of Vancouver's arts and culture sector to:

- Centre the voices of underrepresented, marginalized, and racialized artists, cultural practitioners, and organizations to research, develop, create and present their work.
- Provide meaningful opportunities where artists and cultural workers have the freedom, agency, and safe spaces to share their stories.
- Support co-creative projects between communities and artists or cultural workers that build and strengthen connections across and between diverse communities.
- Expand public access to culturally relevant and diverse work, programs and services to broaden understanding of Vancouver's cultural history and creative stories.
- Amplify cultural life throughout Vancouver neighbourhoods, communities and public spaces.
- Create a more equitable, collaborative, vibrant and sustainable arts and culture sector.

Intakes

CASC has two intakes per year. The October 2023 intake is for projects that start between January and June 2024. Funding recommendations will be published in late January 2024.

A grant recommendation from Cultural Services does not automatically constitute approvals from other city departments.

For projects taking place outdoors on City property, streets, plazas, or parks, permits or approvals must be received from the appropriate City departments and will be a condition for release of grant funds. Please see <https://vancouver.ca/doing-business/organize-a-special-event.aspx> for up-to-date information on City requirements to receive permits and approvals.

For projects taking place on city streets or plazas, contact the City's Film and Special Events Office at 604-257-8850 or email specialevents@vancouver.ca.

For projects taking place in parks, contact the Park Board Special Events and Film Office at 604-257-8516 or email parkevents@vancouver.ca.

Public Art Projects

Murals and built-form public art projects are temporarily ineligible within the CASC program. Built-form projects include, but are not limited to, mosaics and free standing or site-integrated sculptures. Due to the complexity of processes that involve multiple City departments and longer timelines that are beyond the scope of project grant programs such as CASC, we are in the process of reviewing how community public art projects can be best supported through Cultural Services.

For mural projects, contact the City's Mural Program Coordinator by email at murals@vancouver.ca or the Cultural Services Public Art team at cultural.services@vancouver.ca.

Grant Amounts and Matching Resources

NEW: CASC grant awards range from $2,500 to $15,000. We suggest applicants look at previous recommendations to see the range of grant amounts awarded. For 2024, the maximum CASC grant has been reduced as requested amounts often exceed available resources. This is a highly competitive application process; not all applications can be recommended for grants or at the full request amount.

The City aims to join other funders and sponsors in the contribution and success of a project. Through this grant program, the total combined cash contributions from all City sources, including this grant request and Park Board contributions, are as follows:

- NEW: Total combined cash contributions from all City sources (including this grant, other City programs, and Park Board contributions) can be up to 75% of the cash budget, to a maximum of $15,000 (not including in-kind goods and services).

The cash matching requirement only applies to the base grant request amount.

Commitment to Advancing Equitable Funding

In order to balance funding investments to support groups, projects and artists that reflect the diversity of Vancouver and the unceded ancestral lands of the xʷməθkʷəy̓əm (Musqueam), Sḵw̓xw̓7mesh (Squamish) and səliłwətał (Tseil-Waututh) peoples, we aim to increase investment to equity-deserving artists and organizations who have been discriminated against and most impacted by structural racism.

The City has approved an Equity Framework³ and Accessibility Framework⁴.

The City uses an Indigenous Rights, a Racial Justice, an Intersectionality, and a Systems Orientation lens in its approach to Equity. This means to acknowledge:

- the distinctiveness of Indigenous sovereignty and to uphold Indigenous rights;
- that one out of every two residents in Vancouver is racialized, and commit to dismantling racism and elevating racialized voices;
- how multiple forms of discrimination intersect and take an intersectional approach to how gender identity, sexual orientation, ability, socio-economic class, race, religion and immigration status have compounding negative impacts; and,
- embedded discrimination within systems, and the redesign of the rules and incentives of systems, in order to lead to more equitable outcomes.

For further information please refer to the Glossary and Resources at the end of this guide.

Prioritizing Equity-deserving Artists and Organizations

Equity-deserving individuals and groups are those that identify barriers to equal access, opportunities, and resources due to disadvantage and discrimination and actively seek social justice and reparation. Groups that will be prioritized during the assessment process include but are not limited to people who identify as:

- Musqueam, Squamish, Tsleil-Waututh, Urban Indigenous
- Black or of African descent
- People of Colour
- Deaf/deaf, Hard of Hearing
- Living with a disability/disabled people
- LGBTQ2+ and gender diverse

We recognize and acknowledge the compounding effects of different systems of marginalization and strive to apply an intersectionality lens to assessing projects.

Assessment Criteria & Process

As with any competitive granting process with limited available funds, not all applications will be recommended for support. Grant recommendations will vary depending on the type, scope and scale of the proposed project and how well the project aligns with the program objectives and criteria. Assessment committees use the criteria listed below to assess how well projects meet the program objectives. Within the application, there are questions that correspond with the outlined criteria. There are also questions to gather data for reporting purposes only. Applications will be assessed on how well they meet the criteria according to the narrative responses, required additional material, and financial and statistical data.

³ See the Report to Council on the Equity Framework:

⁴ See the Report to Council on the Accessibility Framework:

<https://council.vancouver.ca/20220719/documents/ra-plainlanguage.pdf>

We want to understand how your project supports equity, accessibility and inclusion in Vancouver's arts and cultural communities. You are encouraged to include information throughout your responses that reflect how your project aligns with the key directions of Culture|Shift, particularly in the areas of reconciliation and decolonization, cultural equity and cultural redress, and accessibility.

Additional Considerations for Non-Indigenous Groups Proposing to Work with Indigenous Artists and Content

If you are proposing to work with Indigenous artists or content, we ask that you consider and address the four themes below in your submission. The degree to which you have considered and addressed these points will further inform assessment of your proposal.

1. Cultural Protocols: Vancouver Host Nations and Urban Indigenous people have diverse protocols that govern how cultural expressions and collaborations are developed, shared and stewarded. Please describe how you will respect cultural protocols in your collaborations with Indigenous communities, Nations, or individuals.
2. Consent, Credit, Leadership, and Compensation: Please describe how you will ensure that Indigenous artists, knowledge keepers, and other collaborators have given consent, are credited appropriately, and are in leadership positions in the development or co-development of the project. Describe how they are being compensated and resourced appropriately for their involvement.
3. Cultural Safety: Please describe how you will create or partner to create respectful and safe spaces, venues, and programs where Indigenous people's work and wellness are not compromised by power imbalances, discrimination, stereotypes, and unconscious bias.
4. Sites of Cultural Significance: Applicants are advised that culturally significant areas including Stanley Park, Locarno Beach, Vanier Park, Jericho Beach and all waterfront sites will not be considered without demonstrated permission from and meaningful involvement with the xʷməθkʷəy̓əm (Musqueam), Skwxwú7mesh (Squamish) and səlilwətał (Tsleil-Waututh) Nations.

Refer to the Glossary sections on Reconciliation and Decolonization for insights from the field.

About the Peer Assessment Process

Cultural Services uses a blended assessment model where three to five peer members of the arts, cultural, and creative community are invited to participate in the assessment process with Cultural Planners. The assessment committee reviews applications, participates in discussions, and makes funding recommendations for City Council's approval. Peer members are local artists, cultural workers and administrators in the field who bring professional experience, knowledge and expertise gained from their involvement in Vancouver's arts and cultural communities.

Because this grant program receives applications from a vast range of organizations both with and without a core arts and culture mandate, every effort will be made to assess applications within the context of their core work and activities. Peers contribute current knowledge and understanding of artistic and organizational practices through their active work in the sector. Staff provide historical knowledge of the applicants' programming, financial, and operational history (where applicable), and an overview of the local cultural sector.

Commitment to Diverse Representation on Assessment Committees

Cultural Services has adopted policy to exceed 50% representation of people from equity-deserving communities in all of its assessment bodies for grants and awards. We recognize it is not possible to include every dimension of equity on assessment committees but we strive to achieve a meaningful representation of voices that truly represent the makeup of our cultural sector. We also look for representation of a range of artistic practices; type, tenure, and size of organization; various positions and roles; and perspectives from new and senior leaders, artists, and cultural workers. Staff will take measures to ensure that members will be invited into culturally safe and welcoming spaces.

Orientation, Group Agreements, and Unconscious Bias Training

Assessment Committee members participate in an orientation session in advance of the assessment meetings. The goal of this is to allow members to get to know each other and to meet staff, to learn more about the goals of the program, to understand the process, and clarify roles. The orientation will include an overview of Culture|Shift goals and directions which include Reconciliation, and Cultural Equity and Accessibility. It is also a place for staff to learn what else may be needed to support the members throughout the process.

Each time a new committee is convened, members will establish an agreement for how they will work together throughout the assessment meetings. This agreement will set shared expectations, establish pathways for conflict and resolution, ensure a solid understanding and affirmation of the City's Cultural goals, program guiding principles and objectives, and establish what is needed to ensure a safe space based on trust, consent and mutual accountability.

To understand how bias shows up in the room and in decision-making processes, time is reserved to discuss unconscious bias, and learning resources are provided prior to the assessment meetings.

How to Participate in Assessment Committees

We encourage self-nominations from community members year-round.

NEW: Information on how to submit your nomination can be found here:
<https://vancouver.ca/people-programs/grant-application-and-assessment-process.aspx>

Funding Recommendation Process

City Council Approval

Funding recommendations from the assessment committee are brought forward in a report to City Council for consideration and approval. Applicants receive an email approximately a week in advance of the report going forward for the Council meeting date. Please check your spam folder if you do not see an email notification.

The report is also made public on the City's website at the same time. Names of the peer assessment committee members are made public in this report.

Assessment Feedback and Reconsideration

Every effort is made to use a clear and informed assessment process to ensure recommendations achieve the goals of the City's culture plan and contribute to a vibrant and culturally diverse community. Given the rich cultural activity in the city, demand exceeds the available resources and not all applications can be funded or funded to their full request amount. Applicants may request additional information on the assessment process including comments and clarification of the peer assessment committee's recommendation. Where there are specific conditions on a grant or specific comments to be shared, they will be provided to the organization.

For demonstrated instances where either the financial situation (at the grant submission deadline) or eligibility status was misunderstood by the peer assessment committee, applicants may formally request reconsideration of the recommendation. For eligible formal requests, the recommendation will be withdrawn from the recommendation report to Council and will be reviewed by the Managing Director of Cultural Services who will make a final recommendation and submission to City Council for their consideration at a later date.

For specific details on the Request for Reconsideration policy and process, visit vancouver.ca/people-programs/request-for-reconsideration.

Glossary

Reconciliation & Decolonization

Reconciliation is about building respectful relationships between Indigenous and non-Indigenous people. This includes recognition of Indigenous rights and titles, as well as restitution and redress for colonial harms. Colonialism has contributed to many forms of exclusion and erasure, limiting Musqueam, Squamish, and Tsleil-Waututh, and Urban Indigenous peoples' involvement in defining and shaping Vancouver. Arts and culture systems are still rooted in the ongoing legacies of colonialism – from policies that guide public art to the naming of places.

Decolonization prioritizes Indigenous self-determination of leadership and land to address dispossession, cultural erasure, and denial of political governance. Decolonization change processes related to arts and culture, involve developing practices that:

- Respect the authority and leadership of Indigenous nations and people and their role in broader decision-making processes that relate to their culture
- Support the cultural visibility of local nations throughout their unceded lands
- Support the cultural, political and economic advancement of Indigenous people
- Determine ways to redress dispossession and cultural erasure

Cultural Equity & Cultural Redress

As a principle, cultural equity promotes fair support for cultural work, so marginalized people can see their stories presented by artists who share their experience. As a practice, cultural equity identifies and addresses the systemic discrimination built into cultural norms and practices within art and culture institutions and systems.

The work of cultural equity is informed by racial equity lens. Racial equity recognizes that the systemic racism, anti-Black racism, and anti-Indigenous racism and the ways whiteness is positioned as the cultural norm have significant impacts. These impacts are larger than individual acts of racism based on consciously or unconsciously held beliefs of racial superiority. Like gender equity, racial equity approaches focus on specific, rather than 'one-size-fits-all' approaches and centres the experiences of Indigenous people, Black people, people of colour and racialized people.

Cultural redress initiatives attempt to repair the harms of systemic exclusion and discrimination, including dispossession of land, forced relocations, internment, race-based taxes, race-based refusal of asylum and immigration, racial segregation, and displacing or demolishing of racialized communities' neighbourhoods. The City of Vancouver has formally acknowledged and apologized for legislated forms of discrimination, such as colonial dispossession of the Musqueam, Squamish, and Tsleil-Waututh Nations, the Chinese Head Tax, internment and forced relocation of Japanese Canadians, the refusal of passengers on the Komagatu Maru, and urban planning regimes that displaced Black Canadians in Hogan's Alley.

Ableism – an ablest society is said to be one that treats individuals without disabilities as the standard, which results in public and private places and services, education, and social work that are built to serve individuals without disabilities, thereby inherently excluding people with disabilities/disabled people.

Access – is the degree to which all people with a wide range of experiences can fully participate in activities. Access can include many dimensions of accessibility including physical, spatial, financial, linguistic, cultural, social, and geographic. Access measures might include reduced ticket pricing programs, transit vouchers and other transportation support, gender neutral and accessible washroom and change room spaces, translation services, active listeners, child care on site, space for spiritual and religious practices.

Accessibility – is a set of equity practices aimed at identifying and reducing barriers that people with disabilities and Deaf and hard of hearing people experience. Accessibility practices advance opportunities for creators with disabilities/disabled creators, Deaf/deaf or Hard of Hearing creators, and provide accommodations for people protected under the Charter of Rights and Freedoms as people with disabilities/disabled people and Deaf/deaf people. Accessibility practices can include accessibility consultants, American Sign Language (ASL) Consultants, ASL Interpretation, Vlogs, description, sighted guides, Relaxed Performances, companion seating and tickets, scent-free spaces. It can also include universal design or physical upgrades that allow for people with a wide range of mobility, cognitive and perceptual experiences to easily navigate the space.

Cultural Appropriation – when people take artistic or cultural works or practices from oppressed people without free and informed consent, due credit, and fair compensation.

Cultural Competencies – the understanding of the worldviews, beliefs, protocols, etiquette, and cultural practices that equip people to understand, design, collaborate, communicate and effectively interact with people across cultures in relevant and safe ways. Cultural competence encompasses: being aware of one's own world view; developing positive attitudes towards cultural differences; gaining knowledge of different cultural practices and world views; developing skills for communication and interaction across cultures.

Cultural Protocols – Indigenous people and Nations have diverse protocols that govern how cultural expressions and collaborations are developed, shared, and stewarded. Learning these protocols is the first step towards developing reciprocal relationships between non-Indigenous and Indigenous people as collaborators.

Cultural Safety – the presence of a respectful and relevant space or program where Indigenous people's work and health are not compromised by power imbalances, discrimination, stereotypes, and unconscious bias.

Diversity – is the presence of difference. Diversity initiatives often look at whether leadership and artistic programs reflect the demographics of the communities they serve.

Equity – is the ongoing work to address the systems that privilege dominant groups and disadvantage equity-deserving groups. Cultural equity acknowledges that all people have rights to cultural expression and practice. Equity initiatives first identify the ways that discrimination and unconscious bias gets 'baked into' systems through policy, practices and programs and, together, create systemic discrimination. Systemic discrimination results in persistent disparities in compensation, funding, and exposure for equity-deserving groups. Equity can require different measures to create more fair conditions. Equity initiatives propose and resource actions that integrate equity into existing policy practice and programs as well as develop targeted funds and programs to support equity-deserving groups. An intersectional approach to equity acknowledges that where people experience multiple forms of discrimination, there are compounding effects.

Equity-deserving Groups – those that identify barriers to equal access, opportunities, and resources due to disadvantage and discrimination and actively seek social justice and reparation. These are cultural groups who through their mandate, programs and services are supporting artists and cultural organizations who may include but are not limited to: people who identify as Indigenous; Black people and people of African descent; people of colour and racialized people; disabled people and people who live with mental health challenges; Deaf and hard of hearing people; LGBTQ2+ and gender diverse people; low-income people; refugees, newcomers, and undocumented people; minority language communities; women and girls; and, youth and seniors

Equity & Accessibility Planning Initiatives – the work to integrate proactive equity and accessibility measures to advance the leadership and practices of equity-deserving groups. Multi-pronged, holistic, iterative approaches that are well resourced with the time, money, and leadership to succeed are more effective and may include:

- Commitments – mandates that explicitly name and prioritize advancing artistic or cultural work of equity-deserving artists and people, equity plans, decision-making frameworks, policies and plans for board/staff/artist diversity representation
- Operational Practices – board/staff/artists recruitment, proactive hiring, retention, promotion, succession; equity training – cultural protocols, anti-racism / anti-oppression, cultural competency, gender diverse inclusion; compensation parity; physical space audits
- Programmatic Practices – where the majority of resources and activities are dedicated to activities led by equity-deserving artists and cultural workers, leadership diversity, equitable compensation, ethical collaboration practices, intimacy plans and coordinators when performers perform romantic physical contact, practices to ensure informed consent, due credit, and fair compensation and preventing cultural appropriation
- Evaluation – systematic collection, disaggregation, and analysis of data to identify and address disparities, impact analysis, leadership accountability analysis

Examples of Equity, Diversity, Inclusion, and Accessibility Practices from the field

- Local knowledge: Implementing practices and programming that incorporate knowledge of historical, local, and systemic realities into their work, and prioritize ongoing engagement with community for feedback and future direction
- Equity Practices integrated into operations:
 - Equity in leadership: commitment to organizational leadership representative of the city, or representative of the specific group(s) it serves
 - Equity targets: setting specific measurable representation goals
 - Collaborations and partnerships: ongoing significant engagement with community members and other organizations across cultural differences
 - Organizational development: dedicated work to build cultural competency and increase understanding around specific realities for marginalized communities in order to carve out space for their inclusion
- Accessibility and Access practices: Positioning accessibility and access as ongoing learning projects to reduce barriers along multiple dimensions of access
 - Accessibility: incorporating physical, cognitive, mental health, and perceptual (auditory and visual) accommodation practices through direct engagement with communities of people with disabilities/disabled people and Deaf/deaf and Hard of Hearing people.

- Access practices: adoption of practices that address potential barriers to participation, including income; language; culture; age; gender identity; geography; chemical sensitivity; and childcare
- Compensation: Paying above sector standards, when possible, to address the high cost of living in Vancouver
- Artistic Programs: Resourcing and prioritizing artistic programs reflecting underrepresented experiences and voices, while avoiding limiting artists' work to the expression of these identities
- Audience and community programs: Including targeted programs, community-based or collaborative projects, mentorship programs, community outreach, and traveling programming

Inclusion – is the presence of meaningful contribution and influence in processes and projects. Inclusion is strongest when people have significant, ongoing roles in shaping decisions.

Intersectionality – is a concept that explores how people who experience multiple forms of discrimination experience compounding impacts. For example, a queer, black woman who uses a wheelchair will experience the compounding effects of racism, sexism, homophobia, and ableism. An intersectional approach examines how different forms of discrimination interact and designs equity measures accordingly.

Lived Experience – is the knowledge and understanding you get when you have lived through something – through direct personal participation and observation and firsthand knowledge and contact. People's everyday lives gives them direct, first-hand knowledge of their own cultural context and experiences of structural discrimination which provide cultural competency and valuable professional knowledge and skills.

Reciprocal Relations – is a sustained engagement between people, communities or cultures that is positive, valued, balanced, and mutually supportive where they work together towards common interests and outcomes. With Musqueam, Squamish, and Tsleil-Waututh Nations, it ensures their People are active participants in the social, economic, cultural, and political activities that take place on their lands by building strong relationships based on trust, mutual respect and benefit.

Respectful Workplace – where policies and practices are in place (e.g. anti-harassment, anti-discrimination, anti-racism) to maintain a workplace environment where employees are treated fairly, difference is acknowledged and valued, communication is open and civil, conflict is addressed early, and there is a culture of empowerment and cooperation.

Tokenism – the practice of making only a perfunctory gesture or symbolic effort to do a particular thing, especially by recruiting a small number of people from underrepresented groups in order to give the appearance of fairness or equity.
