

Discussion Rules

Listen with an open mind: suspend judgement so you can understand and learn from others.

Respect differences: appreciate that everyone brings a unique and equally valuable perspective to the conversation.

Encourage full participation: be conscious of the space you take in the conversation; listen as much as you speak; avoid interrupting and crosstalk.

Be authentic and honest: share what's important to you; speak from experience; share from the heart.

Acknowledge grief: these kinds of conversations can be tough, emotional even. Talk openly about your fears and hopes, and leave room for others to express theirs.

Keep it constructive: The City of Vancouver bases its policies on the irrefutable science that climate change is caused by human activities. Debating the reality of climate change is not constructive and takes up valuable time to get to solutions.
