

Worksheet: Local First Nations

BACKGROUND

The City of Vancouver is located on the traditional, unceded territories of the xʷməθkʷəy̓əm (Musqueam), Skwx̱wú7mesh (Squamish) and səlilwətał (Tseil-Waututh) Peoples, who have lived on these lands since time immemorial. As a City of Reconciliation, the City of Vancouver has committed to “form a sustained relationship of mutual respect and understanding with local First Nations and the urban Indigenous community.” This is an ongoing and evolving commitment, and one that is foundational to our work as a City.

The Musqueam, Squamish, and Tseil-Waututh form part of a larger cultural group called the Coast Salish. The City of Vancouver is on the traditional territories of these three First Nations. They have a special spiritual, cultural, and economic connection to this land that goes back thousands of years.

Some of their traditional territories overlap, and they share these lands and resources. It is now a recognized protocol for guests to acknowledge the host nation, its people and its land. You may hear people, groups, or institutions say that they are on unceded land or thank their First Nation hosts.

For example you may hear someone begin an event by saying “We would like to acknowledge the traditional unceded territory of the Coast Salish people.” Vancouver and 95 percent of British Columbia are on unceded First Nations land.

In many parts of Canada, treaties were signed with First Nations that gave incoming settlers rights to much of the land, but in British Columbia very few treaties were signed. “Unceded” means that First Nations people did not give up or legally sign it away to Britain or Canada. As stated in Vancouver Dialogues, “The land where we live is both unceded Coast Salish territory and the City of Vancouver.” You may have seen the Welcome Figures at the Vancouver International Airport. Musqueam artist, Susan Point, designed these traditional Coast Salish figures to welcome travelers to Coast Salish Territory (Source: First Peoples: A Guide for Newcomers, p. 13).

DISCUSSION QUESTION #1: TALK ABOUT IT

After reading the background summary about local First Nations, can members of your group name our three local First Nations and the larger cultural group that they belong to? Did anything about the background summary surprise the members of your group? What did members of your group already know? What did you learn?

DISCUSSION QUESTION #2: TALK ABOUT IT

The video: "Reconciliation Reflections – City of Vancouver" showcases some of the City of Vancouver's efforts to honour the Year of Reconciliation (June 2013 to June 2014). Do people in your group have experience participating in reconciliation activities? Do you think reconciliation is important? Why?

DISCUSSION QUESTION #3: TALK ABOUT IT

The video: "Reconciliation Reflections – City of Vancouver" showcases some of the City of Vancouver's efforts to honour the Year of Reconciliation (June 2013 to June 2014). Of all of the activities shown in the video (art, music, storytelling, speeches, marches), what do members of your group think is most important? Why? Can your group think of other activities that might promote reconciliation?
