Mayor Sim Defends Vancouver’s Right to Prioritize Affordability

VANCOUVER, B.C. Mayor Ken Sim today released a response to Minister Christine Boyle regarding her intervention in an active Vancouver City Council debate.

“At a time when Vancouver families are facing rising costs in nearly every aspect of daily life, City Council has a responsibility to focus on affordability and practical solutions that work for residents,” said Mayor Ken Sim.

The Mayor’s response highlights the importance of supporting affordability for households and builders, and ensuring Vancouver City Council can debate and make decisions independently on behalf of Vancouverites.

“Our focus remains on policies that help keep Vancouver livable and affordable” added Sim. “We will continue standing up for Vancouverites and making decisions based on what is best for the people who live and work in this city.”

Mayor Sim’s full response letter has been released publicly alongside this statement.
