From August 24 to September 13, 2020, a digital survey was available to the public for feedback on the proposed conceptual design for a new park in East Fraser Lands. We notified the community about the survey through mail-outs, site signs, emails, and social media. The following highlights the key findings of the survey.

Q1 We heard from the community which design goals were most or least important to them. Here is how those goals were ranked:

Q2 We heard that the majority of the community liked the proposed design:

Q3 The top 3 requests for additional park amenities were:

We heard
14% Dog park	7% Bigger playground	6% More seating & picnic tables
Our response
On-leash dogs are welcome at all parks and a dog bowl will be added to a new drinking fountain. One of the city's largest off-leash areas is located nearby at Everett Crowley Park. To learn more, see our People, Parks & Dogs Strategy	We are taking a balanced approach to provide spaces in the park for everyone. The playground has been maximized with the available space while still ensuring safety.	More seating has been added to the revised design including more wall seating, which was the most requested of all the seating types.

Q5 The top 3 requests for additional playground amenities were:

We heard
Our response
Splash pads are great but this park is too small to accommodate one. For more information, see the Vancouver Aquatics Strategy: VanSplash.	Accessibility is one of our top priorities too. We will make sure to include accessible play options.	When looking for playground equipment, we will look for equipment made from wood and other natural materials.
