BUILDING A RESILIENT URBAN FOREST

We are working to expand and diversify the urban canopy to advance Urban Forest Strategy actions, prioritizing street tree planting in neighbourhoods with below-average urban forest cover.

HOW TREES ARE CHOSEN

A variety of species supports a resilient urban forest, selected for:

- Resilience to climate change, like prolonged drought
- Space for branch and root growth, above and below ground
- Aesthetics and compatibility with nearby trees
- Resistance to insects and disease
- Availability from local nurseries

HOW YOU CAN HELP

Young trees need extra support to establish. After the two-year warranty and watering period, you can help by watering young trees during dry spells or adopting one in your neighbourhood.
